Obesity Prevention Learning Consortium

Are you...
- Interested in issues related to healthy eating, physical activity, and weight management?
- Thinking about applying to graduate school and want to make your application stand out?

Do you want to...
- Develop practical research skills and use them to make the UConn campus a healthy place to learn and live?
- See how research can be applied to solve real world problems?

If yes...
Apply to become a member of the Obesity Prevention Learning Consortium, a learning initiative sponsored by the Bennett Fund for Innovative Education in Health and Society.

Requirements:
Students must be advanced undergraduates or in the honors program and commit to the 2014-2015 year-long, 10-credit program:

Fall 2014
- 3-credit seminar: “Obesity Prevention from a Social Ecological Perspective”
  Tuesdays, 12:30pm-3:15pm
- 3-credit lab: “Obesity Prevention Research Lab I”
  Wednesdays, 10:10am-12:05pm

Spring 2015
- 1-credit seminar: “Translating Obesity Prevention Knowledge into Practice”
- 3-credit lab: “Obesity Prevention Research Lab II”

Students will have the opportunity to work closely with faculty members and graduate students who are passionate about supporting healthy lifestyles, gain valuable research skills, and participate in fun activities such as attending an obesity conference in Boston.

Interested?
If you are interested in applying or would like more information, please contact Dr. Amy Gorin at amy.gorin@uconn.edu.